The DD Network

Presented: Innovative Strategies in Community-Based Employment

Thursday, December 11, 2014 ~ 10:00am-3:00pm
Cost: $15, Includes Lunch
201 Townsend Street, Lansing, MI 48933 ~ Conference Rooms A, B, C

Join us to:

◊ Investigate moving from employment readiness to the discovery process and how to use it as a tool to gaining employment.
◊ Learn methods on how to develop individual employment outcomes for high school students before graduation.
◊ Learn to effectively work with partners in traditional and non-traditional settings, including small business, to improve employment outcomes.
◊ Learn to maximize economic and social capital at the individual, family, and agency level.

Corey provides consultation and training for customers around the country. He also works with the Dept. of Labors Office of Disability Employment Policy (ODEP), Virginia Commonwealth University, and a number of other universities, states, community rehabilitation programs (CRP’s), high schools, families, and job seekers, providing consultation and training on customized employment, supported employment, alternative funding and organizational and systems transformation. In 2014 Corey received the (APSE) Association for People Supporting Employment First Dave Hammis Innovation award for his work in customized employment, self-employment and braided funding strategies.

Corey is also the Director of Employment Services for Via of the Lehigh Valley in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

Limited number of scholarships available for people with disabilities
Space is limited. Register by December 1, 2014
For more information contact Wendy Duke-Littlejohn, DukeLittlejohnW@michigan.gov, 517-335-2062